APEX GLOVE SDN BHD

APEX GLOVE SDN BHD is a gloves buying group with headquarter in Malaysia, the heart of the largest latex gloves producing region in the world. Buying as a group means our customers get group discount and a competitive price. In return for a bulk purchase the base price of the product goes down and the savings are channeled back to our customers. At the same time, our suppliers benefit in the form of production efficiency and increased customers base thus creating a win-win situation for all.

Since our inception we have built an extensive supplier network. We continuously devote time and effort in developing and nurturing collaborative relationships with both large and niche glove producers. Our knowledge and presence in the marketplace enables us to partner with the correct suppliers, which is crucial in the dynamic glove marketplace.

Being in close proximity to many of the major glove producers allow our purchasing staffs to get closely involved in all aspects of supplier management from negotiating and agreeing contracts to factory audit, development of new artwork, product inspection and shipment monitoring.

Our QA officers add value by ensuring our customers receive products to the appropriate quality standards. Being an independent buying group gives us the flexibility to serve our customers in the best possible way. We have proven to be a reliable partner in sourcing for new products, new artwork development initiatives, special packing requests and etc. Our core expertise in rubber glove business and extensive range of products are oriented to provide partners that work with us the competitive edge.
